VETERAN HARBOR PILOT TO BE RETAINED

Capt. John C. Lorenzen, who has served the port of Honolulu for the last 25 years as pilot, is to be retained by the board of harbor commissioners. This was the decision announced following a two-hour executive session of the board last night. Capt. Lorenzen, who has been on leave of absence a good part of the autumn, will resume his duties immediately.

Whether or not the old pilot would get his license again has been a much discussed question along the local waterfront. The discussion started several months ago when the harbor commissioners, having discovered that Lorenzen had been serving without a license for a score or more of years, granted him leave of absence with the request that he secure the license from the federal inspectors.

Shortly previous to this time Lorenzen, moved by frequent inquiries from the waterfront population, had tried for the renewal in an examination, which he failed to pass, and which he afterward declared to be considerably irrelevant to things maritime.

Finally Lorenzen took the examination again and succeeded in passing. When he presented his pilot's license to the harbor board, again the question came up as to whether or not he should have also a master's license. The leave of absence was extended while the board considered the question.

Last night's decision was the result of this consideration, and it is not unlikely that Deputy Attorney General Arthur G. Smith, who met with the board in the secret session, showed the members that there is not enough difference between a pilot's license and a master's license to warrant the discharge of the old-timer. At least when the board adjourned Capt. Lorenzen was told that his services should be resumed.

NIAGARA COMING IN NEXT THURSDAY NOON INSTEAD OF FRIDAY

Radio advices received this morning by Theo. H. Davies & Company, Canadian-Australasian agents here, stated that the steamer Niagara will arrive from Australia next Thursday afternoon, November 12, instead of Friday morning, and that she will sail for Vancouver at daylight, Friday morning, instead of Friday afternoon. There is plenty of room for passengers from this port for Vancouver, Davies & Company reported today. Only a few are booked out for the Canadian port. The Niagara will take on 4600 barrels of fuel oil here before resuming her voyage.

THIRTY CALLS EACH WAY IN YEAR IS NEW SCHEDULE OF T. K. K.

Thirty calls here each way a year are provided for in the new schedule of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, copies of which have been received. The schedule includes the Persia Maru, formerly the Pacific Mailer Persia, but O. S. K. steamers are not mentioned. A schedule for them is expected later.

The new schedule makes no changes in dates of arrival of the Chiyo, Tenyo, Shinyo and Nippon Maru. The Persia Maru is scheduled to leave here for San Francisco November 27, three days ahead of the Chiyo Maru, due November 30. The Persia, on her return, will sail from San Francisco December 11, a week ahead of the Chiyo, and will sail from here for Yokohama December 18.

Three South American steamers of the T. K. K. will call here and at San Francisco. They are the Anyo, Selyo and Kiyu Maru. Under the joint schedule maintained by the T. K. K. and Pacific Mail there were 52 calls a year each way. The four other ships, Panama, Dalren, Seattle and Shinyo No. 2, leased by the T. K. K. from the O. S. K., will bring the number close to what it was before the Pacific Mail withdrew.

THINK WIRELESS ON STEAMER PESQUEIRA HAS HAD BREAKDOWN

Belief that the Mexican steamer General Y. Pesqueira has perhaps experienced a breakdown of her wireless plant, was expressed by local shipping men this morning and given as the reason why no word has been received from the boat which has been due for the last four days.

A radio message from the mainland was received by the Inter-Island office, the ship's local agents, this morning from Capt. C. T. Robinson. This leads to the belief that the Pesqueira is close by and may be sighted late today or tomorrow.

The ship is coming from Everett, Washington, with lumber for Port Pirie, Australia.

HARBOR NOTES

The Mauna Loa today reported the Waialeale at Honokaa, said to be weatherbound.

The Matson steamer Hyades docked this morning at Pier 30, from Seattle with freight for local firms.

En route here from Gray's Harbor today is the schooner Beulah, which sailed yesterday for this port.

A week from today the O. S. K. steamer Seattle Maru is expected here from Yokohama, bound for San Francisco.

Over 17,500 sacks of sugar are awaiting shipment at island ports. At Punaluu are 9538 and at Honouliuli 8000.

Carleton Miller, successor to P. M. McGraw as day inspector of customs, will take the oath of office Monday morning.

The American-Hawaiian steamer Georgian, from Hilo September 25 for Balboa, and now making New York via Manila, was reported from Puna Arenal Tuesday, 15 days out from Balboa.

F. M. McGraw, who recently resigned as day inspector of customs on account of ill health, will return to Honolulu next Wednesday on the Matsonia from San Francisco, where he has been taking treatment.

The oil-tanker El Segundo sailed for the coast this morning after discharging the remainder of her cargo here. She unloaded most of her cargo at Kahului. This is her first call here in a year and three-quarters.

George H. Robertson, manager of C. Brewer & Company, is in Kahului today on a business trip. H. M. Whitney, head of the company's passenger department, left yesterday in the W. G. Hall for a three weeks vacation on Kauai.

Next mail from San Francisco will arrive Wednesday morning in the Matsonia. The boat is one day behind her schedule. She was 24 hours late leaving San Francisco, as Tuesday, her regular sailing day, was a legal holiday.

A two weeks' vacation is being enjoyed by Capt. Louis Self, skipper of the W. G. Hall. Capt. Frank M. Berg, assistant wharf superintendent for the Inter-Island, took the Hall to Kahului yesterday and will command her until Capt. Self returns.

To pass a month or six weeks in San Francisco and nearby cities, F. W. Klebahn, secretary of H. Hackfeld & Company, is on board the Sonoma today sailing for the mainland. In his absence Julius Bayer, his assistant, will have charge of the shipping department.

Annual inspection of various Inter-Island steamers is being made now by the federal inspectors of hulls and boilers. The Mauna Loa received a looking-over today, the Kinau is scheduled for inspection Monday and Tuesday, and the Maui Wednesday and Thursday.

The Mauna sailed for Kaaupali late yesterday with the barge Bennington in tow. The latter craft will take 750 tons of molasses at Kaaupali and will be picked up by the Mauna on her return from Hilo. The Mauna and the barge are due to return here Sunday morning.

Diving drill was held this morning by a squad from the interned German cruiser Geier, at the navy wharf. The men worked from one of the ship's boats while a diver descended to the bottom of the ship and walked around under the water. Diving drills are required several times a year by order of the German navy.

Six bids, the lowest $750 and the highest $1200, have been forwarded to Washington by Raymer Sharp, acting collector of customs. The bids are for painting the interior of the custom house. The acting collector has recommended that the lowest bid be accepted.

At 11 o'clock tomorrow morning the U. S. army transport Logan will sail for San Francisco. She will carry a full despatch of mail from the post office for the United States and Europe. The transport brought in seven sacks of mail from the Philippines when she docked at Pier 6 at 2 o'clock this afternoon. She takes 250 tons of bunker coal here before sailing.

Rumors that Harry Houdlette, son of the former commander of the Oceanic steamer Sierra, will probably become first officer on the Sonoma, are in circulation here. Houdlette is now second officer on the Sonoma. Her first officer, J. J. Koughan, will be master of the Sierra, due here December 13, on her first voyage to Australia.

Bringing a large and miscellaneous cargo from Kau and Kona, the Inter-Island steamer Mauna Loa docked this morning. Among other freight she brought 6400 bags of H. A. C. sugar, 1063 of coffee, 514 sacks of Japanese rice, 108 bundles of hides, 24 cattle, 10 calves and 110 packages of sundries. She reported rough weather and heavy seas in both directions.

Lady Gregory, the Irish playwright, has arrived in New York from Liverpool, on the California.

LA FOLLETTE IN DEFENSE OF SEA-LAW

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 17.—Senator La Follette denied tonight that the Pacific ocean trade being largely in control of the Japanese and the failure of the Graham & Morton Company operating on Lake Michigan were caused by the Seamen's Law. He said United States vessels never had much trade on the Pacific ocean, and Robert Dollar's company had begun to change the equipment of its ships for economy before the law was suggested.

"The evidence so far presented does not prove the act is responsible for retarding the development of American shipping," the senator continued. "The Seamen's Law prescribes only reasonable regulations for the safety of persons carried by the shipping companies."

"Persons opposed to the law have been eager from the time it was first suggested to seize on any pretext to discredit it. They have been carrying on a campaign to have it modified or repealed and seem to be determined to accomplish their purpose."

"If it is not a good law Congress can be relied on to repeal it. I believe it is a good law, and instead of being modified or repealed it should be strengthened as much as possible. Public sentiment, I believe, is strongly in favor of the retention of the law."
